Republicans now concede the election of Hampton on the face of the returns, but claim that the remainder of the Republican State ticket is elected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—General indications this morning tend to create the impression that South Carolina has elected Hampton governor and Hayes electors; that the Democrats practically abandon hopes of Louisiana and renew their hopes of Florida, where the vote evidently is very close. However, there is nothing definitely reliable on either of the original points. Oswald Ottendorfer telegraphs from New Orleans claiming 8,000 majority, but says the returning board will throw out the entire vote of the others and give the Republican electors the certificates.

Louisiana.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Times' New Orleans special says: Everything in the city is quiet. Nothing in the way of upcoming election returns to change the estimate which show many Republican majorities in the State.

The Herald's New Orleans special says State Senators Kelly and Sherman and Messrs. Stoughton, Hale and Kasson arrived last night. It has now been finally decided by the Democratic visitors to entrust their case to Trumbull, Palmer and Potter, who will remain here to watch the conduct of the count. All the others now here in that interest will probably return in the course of a few days. The policy to be followed subsequently will be a matter of further consideration, which the national committee will probably dictate. That Louisiana will be counted for Hayes by the board is now the universally accepted belief.

The Republicans Fail to See it in that Light.

A communication addressed yesterday by the visiting Democrats to Republican gentlemen has not yet been replied to. In that communication, signed by John M. Palmer, Lyman Trumbull and others, the Democrats intimated that the count of actual votes cast will satisfy the country at large, and a conference was invited with a view of securing such canvass. Governor Carroll is in favor of such a count as they had in Maryland. The reply will undoubtedly be made to-morrow. It is understood the Republican reply addressed to Judge Stanley Matthews and others will not entertain such a proposition or recommend it as practicable, deeming it necessary that the election laws of Louisiana must be fully complied with and that outside parties can have no voice in the matter.

Kellogg Explains the Law.

Kellogg had a long interview with the Democrats to-day. He came before them merely to explain the laws of the State.

Curtin Takes a Gloomy View.

Curtin takes a gloomy view of the situation. He has written home to Pennsylvania that in view of the laws governing the returning officers of Louisiana he knows of no power able to secure this State for Tilden.

"All Quiet but Intensely Excited" in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—All is quiet here on the surface, but the citizens are apprehensive of danger from the negroes, who are intensely excited over the result of the county and State elections. Rumors of all kinds fill the air and it requires but a spark to start a conflagration.

Louisiana to be Brought Round with a Barrel of Money.

There is a rumor that the Democrats are preparing to influence one or two of the returning officers with a barrel of money.

The Situation Unchanged.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—According to the New York papers the political situation is unchanged. The Herald claims that Drew's majority in Florida cannot be cut below 800 nor Tilden's below 400, while it is claimed the Republicans have carried both the national and State tickets.

Mr. Evarts' Opinion of the Law.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Wm. M. Evarts declines to discuss whether the House of Representatives could prevent the counting of the electoral vote by refusing to sit in joint session with the Senate. He claims, however, that the constitutional provisions require them to sit also in the counting which devolves on the president of the Senate; that counting in the presence of both houses was provided chiefly to give dignity and solemnity to the occasion. He believes there will be no difficulty, and both houses will be in their places at the counting.

What the World Thinks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The World, replying to the Herald, declares editorially that in Louisiana the courts are not open to either party on the question of the disputed election count, but the finding and the conclusions of the returning board are indelible and irreversible by any State executive or judicial power. The World also scouts the story of Blaine's proposed election to the Senate presidency, because his term runs only to the 4th of March next.

The Postoffice Electors.

The Times, referring to the case of Elector Watts, of Oregon, says the only question to settle is whether his ineligibility can qualify any other elector on the Democratic ticket, and adds that the legal principle which underlies that question has been settled by a variety of cases, always adversely to the claim of the minority candidate to succeed to the place which some informality prevented the candidate elected by the majority from filling. The Times also points to the inconsistency of claiming that Northern States officers endowed by no State law with other than ministerial functions can properly refuse certificates to ineligible electors, while also insisting on the purely ministerial powers of the Louisiana returning board simply to count the actual vote notwithstanding the Louisiana law specifically imposes judicial functions and powers upon said board.

Ingersoll or Ingerroll?

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 26.—It has been discovered that on some of the Democratic ballots cast in the State the name of Charles R. Ingersoll, one of the electors, was printed Ingerroll. In one town nearly all the ballots cast were of this description. How extensively they were used is not known. Canvassers would most likely count these votes for the regular nominee, but the case seems similar to one reported from South Carolina.

The Postmaster Case.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Post cites among many others the California case of Saunders against Haynes, to show that when a majority at an election votes for a disqualified person, the person having the next highest vote is not elected.

Ohio—Official.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 16.—The official vote of Ohio was canvassed to-day by Secretary of State Bell in presence of Gov. Hayes and James Williams, late auditor, with the following result: 658,757 were cast. Hayes received 330,698; Tilden, 323,186; Peter Cooper, 3,057; Green Clay Smith, 1,636, and Jas. B. Walker, anti-Masonic candidate, 76. Hayes' plurality over Tilden 7,[illegible].

Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 16.—Official returns of 101 counties in Kentucky give Tilden [illegible]; sixteen counties to hear from, but will not materially change it. All the Congressional districts elect Democrats.

Latest from South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 16.—Before the Supreme court to-day counsel for the board of canvassers asked to [illegible] the board to proceed with canvass of returns [illegible] time and truly in a ministerial capacity. The order was granted, but subsequently amended on motion of Democratic counsel that [illegible] shall proceed in a ministerial capacity instead [illegible] upon the order was withdrawn and the court heard argument of counsel on both sides until 8 P. M., when it adjourned. The decision was reversed, and will be delivered to-morrow. The returns are in the custody of the secretary of State and are not accessible.

Gov. Carroll's Dispatch from Florida.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—Ex-Gov. Carroll, of Maryland, to-day received a dispatch from Florida that the Republicans concede the State to the Democratic Electors by 1,200 majority.

The Northern Visitors' Conference.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—The reply of Republicans to the communication from Democrats inviting conference:

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16, 1876.

Gentlemen: A majority of the undersigned to whom your note of the 14th inst. was addressed only arrived in this city yesterday evening. We have therefore been unable to reply until this morning, and can only regret that your communication should have been given to the press immediately upon its delivery and without the possibility of an answer accompanying it. You remark that you are informed that we came at the request of the President to see that the board of canvassers make a fair count of the votes actually cast, and ask that we meet and confer in order that such influence as we possess may be exerted on behalf of such canvass of the votes actually cast as by its fairness and impartiality shall command the respect and acquiescence of the American people of all parties. We join with you in counsels of peace and in the expression of an earnest desire for a perfectly honest and just declaration on the result of the recent election in Louisiana by its lawfully constituted authorities, and we may add that we know of no reason to doubt that such declaration will be made. We do not see the propriety or utility of a conference on this basis and subject to the limitations you propose, for we have no such duty imposed on us, and as suggested by a clause of your note first quoted, we are almost requested to be witnesses of what shall occur in the canvass of votes without power or legal influence over the result or means by which under the laws of Louisiana a result is to be determined. We cannot doubt that you upon reflection will concur with us that we are here as private citizens, with no official power. We therefore cannot supersede or modify any laws of the State, nor have we any right to control or influence any of its officers as to the manner in which they shall perform ministerial or judicial duties imposed upon them by its laws, and should we, being strangers without official functions, attempt it, we should be condemned by the people of every State in the Union for an improper interference with the local administration. The following extract from the laws of Louisiana shows that the canvassing board is expressly required in certain cases to exercise judicial as well as ministerial functions:

"Section 3. That in such canvass and computation the returning board shall observe the following order: They shall compile first the statements from all the polls or voting places at which there shall have been a fair, free and reasonable register and election. Whenever from any poll or voting place there shall be received the statement of any supervisor of registration or commissioner of election, in form as required by section 26 of this act, or affidavit of three or more citizens, of any riot, tumult, acts of violence, intimidation, armed disturbance, bribery, or corrupt influences, which prevented or tended to prevent a fair, free and peaceable vote of all qualified electors entitled to vote at such polls or voting places, said returning officers shall not canvass such vote or compile a statement from such poll or voting place until statements from all other polls or voting places shall have been canvassed or compiled. The returning officers shall then proceed to investigate the statement of riots, tumult, acts of violence, intimidation, armed disturbances, bribery or corrupt influence at any such poll or voting place, and if, from the evidence of such statement, they shall be convinced that such riot, tumult, acts of violence, intimidation, armed disturbance, bribery or corrupt influence did not materially interfere with the purity and freedom of the election at such poll or voting place, or did not prevent a sufficient number of qualified voters thereat from registering or voting to materially change the result of the election, then and not otherwise, said returning officers shall canvass and compile the vote of such poll or voting place with those previously canvassed and compiled; but if said returning officers shall not be fully satisfied thereof, it shall be their duty to examine further testimony in regard thereto, and to this end shall have power to send for persons and papers. If after such examination said returning officers shall be convinced that said riot, tumult, act of violence, intimidation, bribery or corrupt influence did materially interfere with the purity or the freedom of the election at such polls or voting place, or did prevent a sufficient number of qualified electors thereat from registering or voting to materially change the result of the election, then the said returning officers shall not canvass or compile the statement of votes of such poll or voting place, but shall exclude it from their returns; and provided that any person interested in said election by reason of being a candidate for office shall be allowed a hearing before said returning officers upon making application within the time allowed for the forwarding of returns of said election."

Hence if there are any facts requiring the judgment of the board upon the validity of any election or return as affected by such frauds or violence, it would be a manifest interference with State rights and local self government for persons like ourselves without official rights to influence or contest its judicial rights in the election. Had a corresponding board in the State of New York in 1868 been authorized to pass upon the fraudulent returns of votes of the city of New York, and a delegation of citizens of Louisiana, however respectable, attempted to influence its judicial action upon the facts presented to it under the laws of that State, such attempt would have been universally condemned. If the duties of the canvassing board of Louisiana were merely ministerial or clerical, as in the case of any officer charged by law with the duty of verifying and declaring the result of any election, and invested with no discretion, as when the President of the senate counts and declares the votes of electors of several States in the election of President and Vice President under the constitution of the United States, a different case would be presented. It is in our judgment vital to the preservation of constitutional liberty that the habit of obedience to the forms of law should be zealously inculcated, and that the resort to extra-constitutional means of redress for even actual grievances should be avoided and [illegible] as revolutionary, disorganizing and tending to disorder and anarchy. To reduce the whole question therefore to the mere clerical duty of counting the votes actually cast [illegible] from votes legally cast and returned, irrespective of the question whether they are fraudulently or violently cast or otherwise obtained, involves a nullification of the provisions of the laws of Louisiana which have already been adjudicated as valid by the Supreme court, and would be wholly unjustifiable here as well as in any other State of the Union which has provided laws to protect the rights of voters and the purity of the ballot. We cannot therefore concur in your proposition for a conference on that basis. Very respectfully, (Signed) John Sherman, Stanley Matthews, [illegible], Ohio; Wm. D. Kelley, Penn.; John A. Kasson, [illegible]; A. C. Irvin, [illegible]; [illegible] Hall, Mo.; [illegible]; John L. Stevenson, Ohio; John Coburn, Ind.; Lew Wallace, Ind.; J. M. Tuttle, Iowa; W. M. McGrew, Iowa; J. W. Chapman, Iowa; W. R. Smith, Iowa; [illegible]; J. M. Bartley, Ill.; C. B. Farwell, Ill.; Sidney Clarke, Kansas; [illegible]. To the Hon. J. M. Palmer, Lyman Trumbull, [illegible] and [illegible] others present at the request of the chairman of the National Democratic committee.

The Louisiana Returning Board.

Ex-Gov. J. M. Wells, Gen. T. C. Anderson, G. Casanave and Louis M. Kenner to-day took the oath of office and filed the necessary papers with the Secretary of State and went into executive session in a room assigned them in the State House. Nothing has transpired regarding their proceedings. Gov. Kellogg stated this afternoon that a vacancy in the board had not yet been filled. The board adjourned to meet Saturday noon. Gov. Wells, in answer to inquiry whether or not reporters and spectators would be admitted, said that it was the wish, and he evidently expressed the sentiments of all the members, that the board should meet with closed doors during the canvassing and compiling of the returns, except when information was wanted concerning a particular poll or matter connected with the election, or when some point was to be argued before the board. He said that neither the Governor nor any other State officer, if his wish was regarded, should have free access to the room during the session of the board. If the board wanted legal advice he said they would call on the attorney general, but at no other time would that be admitted. Both Mr. Wells and Mr. Anderson said that the board was an entirely independent body and would not be controlled in its action in any way either by the executive or by other parties.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 16.—Full official returns show that in 21 of the 32 counties in this State the majority for Hayes is 1,033 more than the majority for Chamberlain.

Willing to Swap Tilden for State Offices.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The Times' New Orleans special says the excitement is entirely dead down there, but represents the conduct of the troops as irritating to the population. It says the situation is very grave. State Conservatives are much more interested in defeating Packard than electing Tilden. A majority of the politicians here will willingly let the national ticket go if thereby they can save their State ticket. The tone of the returning board to-day leaves no hope that there will be even a shadow of justice to the Democracy. The counting in of Packard will be the real grievance. It would be wisdom on the part of Northern hordes of wise looking statesmen from other parts of the Union to return to the bosoms of their families. The radicals have got the fort and they propose to hold it.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Private advices show the Democrats have given up all hope of carrying Louisiana for Tilden.

Contest in Virginia.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The Tribune's Washington special says Hinton, Democrat, will contest the election of Jorgenson, Republican, in Virginia. The latter received a large majority of the votes cast.

South Carolina no longer Doubtful.

To-day's news justifies the Republicans in taking South Carolina from the list of doubtful States and giving its electoral vote to Hayes upon the admission of Democrats themselves. Yesterday's South Carolina papers show that the Democrats there reached that conclusion night before last. Nothing definite is expected here before Saturday.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 16.—Chamberlain's majority in 21 counties is 9,456; Hayes' majority 10,495. There is no change in the Democratic majority claimed in the entire State, which is 1,189 for Hampton.

Enormous Frauds in North Carolina.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Judge Little, late Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina, is here, accompanied by Mr. Keogh, chairman of the State committee, to consult with Secretary Chandler and others as to the best course in that State, which was carried by fraud. In 1872 Grant carried the State, receiving about 94,000 votes, while Hayes and Little received over 112,000. It is notorious that the population of the State has decreased largely since 1872, but Democratic counties on the coast have been swollen beyond their actual number to an extent that will give Tilden and Vance 30,000 more votes than were ever cast by the Democratic party there before. Republicans are preparing an exhibit of the facts.

Fraud in Mississippi.

Persons from Mississippi report that Lynch, colored, is defeated for re-election to Congress in a district where the colored population is three times greater than the white, where previously he received more majorities than his opponent received votes.

Republican Gain in Arkansas.

A gentleman from Little Rock states that McClure, Republican, is certainly elected to Congress from that district, making a Republican gain of one in the State.

Gov. Irwin Positively Denies It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Relative to the Chicago Times' Washington special to the effect that Gov. Irwin had telegraphed to Washington that he would not certify to the returns of this State, having discovered such frauds as would negative the Republican majority, the Chronicle this morning publishes the following:

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 15—11:30 P. M.

To the S. F. Chronicle: I have sent no dispatch of the character to which you refer to Chicago or elsewhere, nor have I authorized any such dispatch to be sent there or elsewhere, nor did I have any knowledge of the dispatch to which you refer till I saw it in this evening's Bulletin.

WILLIAM IRWIN.

The Election Investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—The investigation of city election affairs will go on this afternoon. The proposition to bring the matter directly before the grand jury instead of the finance committee of the board of supervisors has been dropped in accordance with the earnestly expressed desire of Badlam, assessor, and Reynolds, county clerk, who consider themselves the parties under investigation instead of the Republican party, and express their desire to have matters pushed as promptly as possible. Mr. Reynolds to-day expressed the opinion that while undoubtedly some isolated cases of fraudulent voting would be discovered, that they would be but few, not exceeding perhaps a hundred or two, and likely to be found among members of both parties. He explains that the great increase in the aggregate vote is clearly referrable to natural and legitimate causes; that about 5,000 of the increase may be attributed to twenty-oneesters or voting men just coming of age, and numerous naturalizations obtained within the last two months. Stories relative to enormous votes polled from certain well known lodging houses in the city are pretty effectually exploded. It was stated that four hundred votes were polled from the Windsor House, a first-class boarding house on the corner of Fifth and Market streets, while the house did not accommodate over forty voters and families. The same thing may be said to hold good in the case of the other houses mentioned as to any cases of fraudulent voting discovered. District Attorney Murphy asserts his intention of getting rid of other matters before the grand jury as expeditiously as possible and devoting the rest of the time to [illegible] the examination [illegible] election frauds, with a view of visiting the full legal penalty on any one of any party or station found to be implicated as principal or accessory in such offenses.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL THE REMAINS OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 8.—The most dastardly attempt was made last night to steal the bones of President Lincoln from the cemetery vault here. The plot was suspected some time since, and Elmer Washburn, United States Detective Tyrrell and assistants watched the vault last night. The scoundrels broke in the outer and inner doors of the vault, sprung the [illegible] of the sarcophagus, and were about to make off with the remains when the detectives sprung on them. [illegible] escaped [illegible] keeping [illegible] darkness. A slight [illegible]

Mr. Spurgeon's sermons [illegible] prepares for by several [illegible]. His numerous and apparently purposeless [illegible] is pursued with two clearly defined objects—the sweetening of the mind by the introduction of new matter and the education of those [illegible] by taking illustrations. Thus he has always a good stock in trade to bring to bear on any text he may select; but it is nevertheless certain that the fluent discourse rolled out in magnificent tones, without halting or faltering or, as Latimer has it, "humbing and mumbling," has all been previously well thought out.

EASTERN NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.

A Fenian Raid.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Sun reports that the Fenians are concentrating near St. Albans, Vt., preparatory to a raid in Canada. The story is probably false. No other paper has it. It has been denied.

Actor's Death.

Missionary Work.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Missionary Committee of the M. E. Church South continued its session to-day. The committee appointed yesterday to consider what amount should be made to be appropriated for missionary work of the ensuing year reported in favor of fixing it at $525,000, and that in addition the sum of $100,000 be appropriated to forward the payment of the outstanding indebtedness of the committee, now amounting to nearly $200,000. This makes a total to be raised for the next year of $625,000. The report was adopted and a committee was appointed to aid the Secretary in raising the money called for. It was resolved to prohibit the European mission from taking up any new charges or making any appointments in any new territory, without the consent of the presiding Bishop. The sums to be appropriated to each missionary district were discussed, and in every case a reduction on last year's appropriation was made, owing to financial depression and the impossibility of raising larger sums of money. The following sums were appropriated: Siberia, $7,000; Foo Chow, China, $18,000; Pekin, $8,250; Denmark, $7,400; Sweden, $10,000; South America, $7,500; [illegible], $7,000; Germany and Switzerland, $20,000; Norway, $10,500.

From Gen. Crook's Campaign.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Advices from Gen. Crook show that he expects a speedy termination of the Indian war. He will prosecute a winter campaign energetically and finish it before the season advances very far. Sitting Bull, with 2,500 Indians, is supposed to have gone north, but he is not expected to fight again, as he has already lost many of his followers by being harrassed by the troops. It is not believed that he or his band will come again into the agencies. It is feared Crook's command will experience suffering similar to that of last year.

Representations on various subjects continue to be made before them by single individuals and by committees of citizens. Advocates of female suffrage, liquor prohibition and a return to the old municipal system have been heard. Delegates from Georgetown say that rather than have a consolidated government for the entire District they prefer the retrocession of the territory of Georgetown to Maryland. Senator Spencer has prepared two bills for the government of the District. One fixes the relations of the United States government to the District, and provides for its government by a board of supervisors and council. The other provides for an ordinary municipal government with jurisdiction over the entire District.

The committee decided that the government of the District should be administered by three commissioners, and [illegible] the mode of selection, whether by appointment or election, [illegible] be decided subsequently.

The Lick Trust.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Obstacles which sprang up in the way of a settlement of the Lick trusts through the unfriendly attitude believed to have been assumed by J. H. Lick, now promise to be removed at an early day. Motions for amicable settlement have been in progress between the two boards of trustees and various beneficiaries of the trust and John H. Lick, ever since his arrival in San Francisco soon after his father's death. These negotiations will, in the course of a week, it is believed, be drawn to a satisfactory conclusion. We are not at present permitted to make public the terms of settlement, all the details relating to it not yet having been completed. Members of various organizations interested in the trust, who have been consulted, have unanimously concurred in the action of the trustees, and all that remains for them to do is to take official action in the matter, and to make the arrangement so far as they are concerned binding. The Regents of the University, the Society of Pioneers, and the Academy of Sciences, will hold meetings in a few days for that purpose.

Raining in San Francisco.

It has been raining briskly at intervals during the morning, with a prospect of continuance.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon states that up to this morning the Porte's objection to the conference had not been removed. The same journal in a leading editorial says: We believe Russia intends war. She is prepared to insist upon claims which she believes the Porte will refuse, and is getting ready to impose them by force. The situation, it says, is but little different from what it would be, if for the word "armistice," the words "Russian demands of Reform" were submitted, and the Ignatieff ultimatum thus modified were still lying before the Porte.

A telegram from Ragusa says the Turkish army of Albania has scattered, and the portion under Dervish Pasha has been ordered to Bulgaria and the Danube, 15 battalions to Constantinople, and the remainder stays in Albania. Mouktar Pasha has left Trebinje for Albania.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—It is the opinion of people connected with foreign embassies that war in Europe is inevitable, and, contrary to general expectation, they believe it will break out before spring.

VIENNA, Nov. 16.—A dispatch states that large numbers of Russian officers who intended to quit Belgrade have been ordered to remain. A third of the Servian army is to remain under arms during the armistice. Grand Duke Nicolais Nicolaivitch is expected at Kemen on Monday to take command of the Russian army.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Soldiers on furlough in Ireland have been ordered to join their regiments. All furloughs are temporarily suspended.

There is every probability the Porte will consent to a conference.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A Berlin dispatch reports that the entire Polish contingent Russian army has been sent out of the Polish provinces for service in the field. Russian garrisons remain in Warsaw and other large towns in Russia.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Duke of Argyle in his letter to the Daily News points to the contradictions between papers published by the foreign office and assertions in Lord Beaconsfield's speeches. He particularly calls attention to the fact that resumption of hostilities in September was not caused by British indignation meetings against Turkish atrocities by Turkey's refusing terms agreed upon by the powers.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—European advices toward the close of business on change to-day were considered more warlike; special importance being attached to the dispatch that the Earl of Beaconsfield was suddenly telegraphed for and left Stafford by next train for London.

The Earl of Beaconsfield, who was visiting the Earl of Shrewsbury at Ingestre Hall, Stafford, returned to London to-day on earnest telegram from his colleagues.

England Preparing for War.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The authorities of the Davenport dockyard have received orders to prepare the iron-clad turret ships Cyclops and Hydra for immediate active service.

Great activity prevails in Woolwich arsenal. An imperative order was issued yesterday that the production of rifle ball cartridges be increased to 2,000,000 per week. Usually the quantity manufactured weekly is 500,000.

Disposition of the Turkish Armies.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A correspondent of the Telegraph says the Porte, in view of a winter campaign, intends to keep 40,000 men in Montenegro and Herzegovina, 40,000 on the borders of Greece and 80,000 to watch Servia. The company of Royal Engineers recently placed under orders for foreign service is having a course of instruction preparatory to embarking.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Manchester.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The vessel Manchester, whose loss off Akyab with all hands except the captain and steward while on a voyage from Liverpool to Calcutta was reported in yesterday's dispatches, was formerly the Inman line steamer City of Manchester. She had been sold and converted into a sailing ship. Thirty-two of her crew are probably lost.

England Prepares for Emergencies.

The Globe this afternoon announced that it hears from a trustworthy source that 21 battalions of infantry, seven regiments of cavalry and 80 guns have already been told off as the first British force for the East should the Government consider their service necessary for the protection of British interests.

Spanish Politics.

MADRID, Nov. 16.—In yesterday's session of Congress, the Minister of the Interior introduced a bill restoring the electoral law which formerly prevailed in Spain. This bill abolishes universal suffrage and establishes voting by departments and grants suffrage only to persons paying a certain amount of taxes and to members of certain professions.

Labor and Capital.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Press Association state that the master spinners of North and Northeast Lancashire have resolved to carry into effect a general lock out on Monday. Previous information, however, is that a meeting of operatives will be held on Sunday to decide whether the masters' terms shall be accepted absolutely as the masters require.

The French Assembly.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 16.—In the chamber of deputies to-day verification of the election of Dudemaine, legitimatist, to sit in the house was considered. After a violent debate a motion to annul the election on account of undue influence exerted by the officers was carried by a vote of 34[illegible] yeas to 153 nays.

Failure.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Hamilton & Co., colliery owners, of Manchester, have failed. Their liabilities are estimated at $600,000.

A stump speaker boldly announced the other day that "the country is drifting into [illegible]."

This is the way the San Francisco [illegible] gets out of the election muddle:

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 17, 1876.

PEACE OR WAR? IF WAR, HOW?

No sooner did the public mind settle down in the comfortable assurance that the danger of a great European war, which for a time seemed imminent, had been averted by the timely and judicious intervention of the powers, than the Porte, apparently impelled by that fatal malady by which it is said the gods prepare their predestined victims for destruction, begins to haggle over some trifling matters of detail in the proposed conference, and gives Russia an opportunity and a pretext for reinforcing her peaceful demands with warlike demonstrations. Ten days ago all thought of war seemed to have been given up. To-day the sky is as black as it was before the truce. By word and deed the Czar is giving out that he will brook no more trifling. The demand for reforms in the exercise of government over the Christian provinces of the Ottoman empire, which was acquiesced in by all the intervening powers, the Czar declares must be acceded to in their spirit as well as in their letter, and there must be no equivocation. It is plain the people of Russia are in no mood for paltering; it is equally plain that even the autocrat of all the Russias has come to recognize the necessity of paying some regard to the sentiments of his subjects. His speech at Moscow the other day sounded strongly like those we are accustomed to hear from English statesmen who, in these times of individual and personal independence, never let an opportunity to conciliate popular feeling go unimproved.

But the question is beginning to be asked whether the war is to be Russia against Turkey and England, or Russia and England against Turkey. The part England is playing in the drama is scarcely comprehensible, on the theory of her traditional opposition to Russia's plans for getting a way to the Mediterranean. While British statesmanship was ostensibly exhausting itself in efforts to prevent the further effusion of blood in the Christian provinces, and, at the same time, to secure the integrity of Turkey, Russia sent her ultimatum to the Sultan, in which all the advantages were against him; and England forthwith became the ally of Russia in urging their acceptance. It is now an open secret that the nature of the ultimatum was fully understood by the British negotiators before it was placed in the hands of General Ignatieff, and it is even publicly stated, and, so far as we have observed, not denied that its terms were formulated by English hands. Meanwhile the British Premier makes a speech in which he [illegible] the hostile attitude of Russia in as tame a manner as if it were a matter in which England had never been in any way concerned, and the London Times thunders so gently that one does not readily distinguish its tones from the echoes of the tramp of Russian infantry. All that can be made out with certainty in Beaconsfield's speech is, that the sending of a British fleet to Besica Bay has "saved" Constantinople;" and all that is intelligible in the Times is, that in case Russia opens hostilities it will be imperatively necessary for England to see to it that Constantinople is in hands that can hold it, which means British hands.

Close upon the heels of these singular paragraphs in the history of current events over there, Russia presents in detail her idea of what the proposed conference of the powers must bring about; presents them in such form as makes them practically another ultimatum; and they are such as reduces the dominion of the Sultan over his European possessions to a mere semblance, a shadow without substance enough even to gratify the fancy of an easy monarch caring only for the name of ruler, much less to satisfy the tastes of an oriental despot; and still the Thunderer is as gentle as a western zephyr.

It begins to look as if there were foundation for the suspicion expressed in some quarters twenty days ago that England and Russia are no longer the enemies or rivals in the East which tradition makes them, but have come to an understanding and are working together to carry out a plan agreed upon between them but not given to the public. It would be a singular ending of the spasmodic tragedy popularly known as the Eastern question if England should secure her Turkish bonds, her Asiatic frontier, and the "integrity of the Turkish Empire," for which she has given herself so much trouble, and Russia gain her outlet to the sea and lift from the necks of the Greek Christians the yoke which has galled her almost as much as them, co-operating with each other to reduce the Sultan to the condition of the scepterless monarchs of British India. According to present appearances, such a denouement is among the possibilities; and it is "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

TOMPKINS ET AL. AGAIN.

The San Francisco Chronicle, in an editorial notice of the OREGONIAN's remarks upon the slanderous letter published in the Chicago Times and copied into the Chronicle, concerning Hon. M. P. Deady, U. S. District Judge for the district of Oregon, takes occasion to say that what the OREGONIAN said of the Judge's ability was incorrect, giving emphasis to that declaration by the further statement that "nearly all the important land cases tried before and decided by Judge Deady, as well as cases of maritime importance, have, upon appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, been reversed by that tribunal."

We do not care to discuss the question of a judge's ability, especially in his own State, where the people all know what is the truth of the matter; but it is proper to state that not one of the many land cases decided by Judge Deady in Oregon was ever reversed by the Supreme Court. The only case of any sort in which his decision has been reversed by the Supreme Court during the twenty-five years he has sat on the bench, was a land case decided in San Francisco, reversed on technical grounds.

The Chronicle also says, the "grave wrong" with which Judge Deady is charged is his effort to prevent Tompkins and those convicted with him, from being pardoned. It is a "grave wrong" to make such a statement; for the truth is, that on the only application for the pardon of those persons that was ever presented to the judge, he made a report expressing his opinion that a pardon might properly be granted them.

The Chronicle says the letter was copied by it from the Chicago Times, merely as a matter of current news. If that is so, why did it omit part of the letter? And why does it return to the charge now and make the accusation its own? The facts don't tally well with its professions. The style of the Chronicle's article betrays its authorship. It was written by an individual not unknown to newspaper literature in Oregon, who, while here, never missed an opportunity to injure Judge Deady. The proprietors of the Chronicle would consult their own interests and the interests of justice by putting a curb on the fellow's malice.

In this connection the following letter from B. F. Dowell, Esq., to the Jacksonville Sentinel, which fully explains itself, will be read with interest by all who wish to get at the truth of the charge of injustice in the trial of Tompkins, et al:

LETTER FROM B. F. DOWELL.

A correspondent of the Chicago Times makes serious charges against Judge M. P. Deady about the trial of Tompkins, White, Bramlette and Hansen, and the same has been reprinted in the San Francisco Chronicle, and in the OREGONIAN of the 24th ult. A letter of Hon. A. C. Gibbs, who was the United States District Attorney at the time of the trial and conviction of Tompkins, White, Bramlette and Hansen, will be found in another column.

I, having a special appointment, aided in the prosecution of these unfortunate men, who are now confined in the Oregon penitentiary for robbing the mail in Antelope Canyon, Wasco county, Oregon, in 1872.

The irresponsible correspondent of the Chicago Times charges that Judge Deady "was mainly instrumental in having four innocent men convicted;" that all the defendants bore a good reputation; that the trial was rushed through the court in great haste by Judge Deady and District Attorney Gibbs. The whole article is a tissue of falsehoods from the beginning to the end.

I would not say aught against these men to prevent them from getting a pardon, because from the facts I now believe they should be pardoned; but justice to good, able and faithful officers requires the truth to be told. No prisoner or set of men ever had a fairer or more impartial trial than Tompkins, Bramlette, White and Hansen. Soon after the robbery I visited the neighborhood where the crime was committed, not for the purpose of convicting Tompkins, but to get all the facts and circumstances so as to convict those who committed the crime. The prisoners were all strangers to me, I had never seen either of them until they were brought into court to plead to the indictment against them. My object in visiting the neighborhood was to collect all the facts and circumstances so that the guilty should not go unpunished. I heard the neighborhood talk; I heard all the evidence in the trial, and I affirm the court and jury were more than justifiable in convicting and sending these prisoners to the penitentiary for life. I thought at the time that the evidence was strong and conclusive.

Two Portland daily papers published a large amount of the evidence during the trial. I reported the whole they contained, as a special sworn officer of the government, to the Attorney General of the United States. If this Washington correspondent of the Times will read it, he ought to stop his malignant charges against the judge and district attorney for not signing the petition for the pardon of these convicts.

For the last twenty-seven years it has been my lot to be engaged in prosecuting or defending many men charged with high crimes produced on circumstantial evidence, yet I have seldom seen a stronger chain of circumstantial evidence against any prisoner. But alas, they may be innocent! The robbers were masked so the stage passengers could not recognize them.

Three years passes away and then Milton Shepardson is tried in the same court, by the same judge, with different prosecuting attorneys, and with a different jury and different evidence, and the jury returned a verdict that Shepardson is guilty of the same offense. One of the verdicts is wrong.

I was not present at the trial of Shepardson, and know nothing about it, except from hearsay, but I have it from the best authority that no officer of the Government is to blame on the trial of either of these cases; but there is no doubt that one or more of the witnesses in one of these cases committed base perjury. Perhaps no court, no jury, or no District Attorney will ever know which man or which party are perjured villians. On this ground Tompkins, Bramlette, White and Hansen ought to be pardoned by the President.

Mr. Starkie, an able writer on evidence, truly says: "Where it is certain that one of two individuals committed the offense charged, but it is uncertain whether one or the other is the guilty agent, neither of them shall be convicted. The maximum of law is, that it is better that ninety-nine (i. e. an indefinite number) offenders should escape than one innocent man should be convicted."

It is the certainty and not the severity of punishment that prevents crime. Tompkins, White, Bramlette and Hansen have been punished upwards of four years, and it has been demonstrated by another jury that perchance Shepardson, with two others, may have committed the deed; so guilty or innocent, pardon them and let them go and sin no more. Shepardson was found guilty of the crime, but was acquitted by the jury and judge because it was committed more than three years before the commencement of the prosecution. Justice and public policy require those confined for the same crime shall be set free.

NOT THE ONLY QUESTION.

The New York Times is quoted as authority for the proposition that the "only" question to be settled in the postoffice electors' cases is, whether their disqualification elects Democrats in their places; and this, it thinks, has been settled in the negative by judicial decisions. If that were the only question, the case would be a bad one for the Republicans, for if these votes are excluded, Tilden would have a majority of all the votes cast in the electoral college, without South Carolina, Florida or Louisiana. The question which it most concerns Republicans to have decided in the affirmative is, whether these electors, having resigned their offices, are now qualified to receive their certificates and cast their electoral votes. Mr. Cushing is said to have expressed the opinion that they are, and the reason of the thing is on that side. But if that question should be decided in the negative, then the only other question in which the Republicans can have any great interest is, whether there is in legal contemplation such a vacancy as can be filled by the other electors under the provision of the State laws relating to that subject. This question is not free from difficulty so far as Oregon is concerned, since if they were never lawfully elected there is ground to claim that the office never having been filled has not become vacant in the sense of our law, which provides only for the filling of a vacancy caused by the failure of an elector to attend at the time when the vote is required to be cast. If these two questions should be decided against the Republicans, they need not concern themselves with the one suggested by the Times; for in no event could they elect a President without the two postmasters or substitutes for them. With them, and with the votes of all the three doubtful States there is not a single vote to spare. The Times, if its position is correctly stated, virtually concedes that the vote for the two postmasters was a nullity, and that is tantamount to conceding the election to the Democrats.

STILL UNDECIDED.

We have nothing of a more definite character to give our readers this morning, concerning the result of the Presidential election, than we have presented heretofore. Either South Carolina, Florida or Louisiana going for Tilden will elect him. All of them going for Hayes will elect him. Both parties claim them all, with what reason the reader can tell as well as we, by looking over the dispatches. The reports are so contradictory that no intelligent opinion can be formed; and to all appearances the news gatherers in the East are as much at sea as we who live on the Pacific coast. It looks now as if nothing would be certainly known as to the final result for some time.

Two of the Republican electors were postmasters when they were voted for, which is a disqualification, unless their subsequent resignation obviates the objection. The Democrats pretend to think the disqualification rendered the vote for them null and void, and that therefore their resignation does not help the matter. We apprehend the will of the people, clearly expressed, upon a matter of such moment as the election of President, will not be set aside on such grounds. Neither do we expect anything to come of the counter-charge made by Republicans that six of the Democratic electors are ex-rebels whose disabilities have not been removed. We should regret very much to see the Republican party attempt seriously to elect a President of the United States by rejecting Democratic electors on that ground.

From all we can make of the contradictory reports, we are inclined to think that if all the votes cast in the three doubtful States are counted, regardless of the fraudulent means used to get them, the Democrats will be found to have carried two, if not all of these States, and that the result now depends on the action of the returning boards.

CITY.

MY COUNTRY 'TIS OF THEE —A gentle man who is well versed in popular literature sends us the following sketch of the origin and authorship of that national hymn the first line of which constitutes the heading to this paragraph He says It is generally supposed that the adaptation of the well known air of the English national hymn God Save the King, to the modern hymn My Country 'tis of Thee' was a piece of sheer [illegible], and as such it has been strongly [illegible] by many people The following account of the origin of the well known hymn 'America' puts this matter in a differ ent light. It is given by the Rev Dr S F Smith, who is himself the author of this hymn It is said that, in 1832 a Mr Wood bridge had been sent to Germany in the inter est of education, and on his return brought quite a quantity of German music, which was put into the hands of Mr Lowell Mason Mr M handed it to Mr Smith requesting him, as he had some knowledge of German to look the music over and if he found any thing available to utilize it On examining it he was attracted by the music of what is now known as 'God Save the King' He had never heard it played, and was not aware that it had been used in England He sat down to write a hymn to the music. It was a cold day in November 1832, in the town of Andover, where Mr Smith was then a the ological student; and when he had finished there was on the paper what is now so well known as 'America.' This history says a writer in the Congregationalist is only another testimony to the fact that utterances that have [illegible] in them are born and not made many persons who now take very little [illegible] in this hymn, would admire it more if they knew the true history of its

HUMOROUS

"What is that man yelling at?" asked an Illinois farmer of his boy. "Why," chuckled the urchin, "he's yelling at the top of his voice!"

A poor fellow seeking employment in a Chicago telegraph office finally asked to be hired as a telegraph pole. It was no use; every post was full.

A young lady refused to attend church because her new hat had not been sent home. "I hate the devil and all his works," she said, "but I hate an old fashioned bonnet more."

A sick man in New Orleans was told by the doctor that nothing would save him except a quart of catnip tea. "Then I must die," said the poor man, "for I don't hold but a pint."

An old minister said to a young preacher who was complaining of a small congregation: "It's as large a congregation, perhaps, as you will want to account for at the day of judgment."

Teachers who have the education of girls to attend to should strive to imbue their minds with the fact that a seventy-five dollar overcoat will not cover up more plants than two five cent newspapers.

General Newton's little daughter, only three years old, touched off the dynamite in the Hell Gate mines. Bless our soul, if little Miss Newton blows up things when she is three years old, what will she do when she is a mother-in-law?

Moliere was asked the reason why in certain countries the king may assume the crown at fourteen years of age and cannot marry before eighteen. "It is," answered Moliere, "because it is more difficult to rule a wife than a kingdom."

A Kentucky Democratic editor denounces Colonel [illegible] because "he throws the dirt of his [illegible] belief on the Bible, an instrument as dear and precious to the souls of the American [illegible] as the name of its illustrious author, [illegible] in their memories."

[illegible] and Jim Bruce went out of Louisville, Ky., into the country to practice singing bass. They made the woods "howl" for miles around until a granger with a double-barreled shotgun on his shoulder and blood in his eye, put in his appearance. "I'm lookin' for a bull that has been bellerin' around here all day. Have either of you fellers seen one anywhere?" Jim looked at the granger, then at Garrett, and said: "Mister, the bull you're lookin' for ain't far off," and the man with the gun went on through the wood and Jim turned and said, "Let's quit, Garrett; that bass voice of yours will get us killed." And they walked back to the city in forty minutes.

A FORGETFUL MAN.—His wife sent him up town for "suthin' or 'nuther" early in the evening. On the way he met a friend and they spent a half hour in an animated discussion as to whether Hayes or Tilden had the best chances for an election, and when he left his friend at the corner of Fourth and Vine streets he had entirely forgotten what Maria had sent him after. It was in vain that he tried to think up his forgotten errand. For [illegible] hours he wandered around from saloon to saloon, trying to stimulate his [illegible] brain and prick up his memory. "[illegible] no use." The more he stimulated the more he didn't remember. He hated to go home and acknowledge as much to his wife, and so he just dropped in on his friends to [illegible] sympathy. "After he had managed [illegible] of the article to [illegible] the clock on St. Xavier [illegible] was chiming the midnight hour, the [illegible] a dispatch and remarked that the Associated Press announced the [illegible] of Dr. [illegible], the famous physician. "By the jumping Juniper Jupiter, I [illegible]," said the visitor, rising slowly [illegible] his seat and turning as pale as a [illegible] patient; "I remember now. My wife had the cramp colic and sent me to bring the [illegible] D—n politics! I wonder if she's [illegible] yet?" And he shot out of the door after that doctor without staying to hear what the [illegible] was in New York.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

[illegible] is a French carver and gilder who has a plot of land near the forest of Bondy, which is coveted by the Orleans princes, just as the vineyard of Naboth was coveted by Ahab, and the Petites Affiches announces that [illegible] of the younger branch are prosecuting [illegible] for 500 francs, with the view of ejecting him. The carver and gilder [illegible] him the Duc de Montpensier, the Comte de Paris, the Duc de Chartres, the [illegible] de Nemours, the Prince de Joinville, the Duc d'Aumale, the King of the Belgians, the Comte de Flandre, and the Duke of Wurtemberg. The Radical and Bonapartist papers [illegible] political capital out of this [illegible] which possibly arises out of some arbitrary act on the part of the Revolution or the confiscation of the Orleanist property by Napoleon III.

The [illegible] of the 8th says: "Numerous inquiries were made yesterday for a young man who has recently established himself in the [illegible] business on Government street [illegible]. The peculiar interest evinced in him [illegible] hours originated from the fact that he [illegible] on board the North Pacific yesterday morning, carrying on his person certain [illegible] of jewelry deposited with him for repairs, without having first intimated that he [illegible] to leave the city."

[illegible], the Argo and F[illegible] are plying the waters of the Umpqua from its mouth to [illegible], carrying passengers, towing [illegible], scows, etc. They also run up Smith's river some twenty miles above where its [illegible] empty into the Umpqua.

Money affairs in this market exhibit the usual quiet phase. There is some demand from the export trade for aid in moving the surplus products of the country but it is readily supplied and a very considerable amount is offering in the open market by parties outside the banks which are also reported to be well prepared to meet much greater calls than are now made upon their resources. The [illegible] that money is easy in the local market has been questioned by parties who have applied for accommodations upon securities that are not regarded as first class. Notwithstanding the fact that prime commercial paper is readily taken and eligible real estate security meets with a free response from capitalists they invariably claim the right to determine upon the question of the availability of the collateral proffered. The most acceptable is gilt-edged paper; next improved city property and then farm lands under cultivation. Mortgages upon wild lands are not at all in favor and he who seeks to borrow upon them finds much difficulty. Persons of financial standing in trade circles are accommodated for 60 or 90 days quite readily. For the purposes of making permanent improvements, the call at this season of the year is unusually light and the present time is no exception to the rule in this respect.

The Wool Market.

Eastern advices note a decided improvement both in the demand and prices for wool. Mauger & Avery's Circular of Nov 1st, says:

The steady consumptive demand has reduced the stocks of wool appreciably and it is a question with some whether the supply will hold out until another clip. Yet several of the largest and best informed manufacturers, whose unlimited resources would enable them to anticipate any material advance if such seemed probable, calmly watch the [illegible] in expectation of a break in prices. [illegible] opinion is that the position of the market [illegible] than it has been for a long period, and that while it is [illegible] we may have a [illegible] of comparative quiet yet the necessities of consumers will keep the market firm if not cause it to sustain a further advance. But it is well to bear in mind that increased cost of stock with no corresponding improvement in woolens bears heavily on and already crippled [illegible] interest and operates to stop the machinery.

Dealers not succeeding in obtaining supplies in the West were obliged to make up their stocks from the available assortment in the various markets and consequently they have been large purchasers and the upward tendency has become more marked. Fleeces [illegible] by the most inquired for but all lines of domestic have received attention, particularly California and Oregon of which within the past week large lines have been moved.

Fine wool [illegible] blood combing is held most firmly though medium grades which were neglected early in the season have recently sustained a marked advance at full firmly held. The unusually large advance for delaine and combing staples has drawn heavily upon the supply of lower grades and the offerings of cloth appear less than is usual at this season.

The same authority notices the sale in New York in October of 77,000 lbs Oregon wool at prices ranging from 27@33c per lb.

The Wheat Yield

The October report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington indicates a reduction below the average wheat yield in the United States of about one-sixth while the quality is said to have been somewhat superior. Every section of the Union indicates a reduced product except the Middle States which increased about 2 per cent. The New England States fell off 4 per cent, the South Atlantic States 2 per cent, the Gulf States 2 per cent, the Southern Inland States 8 per cent, the States north of the Ohio river 14 per cent, the States west of the Mississippi river 27 per cent, the Pacific States nearly [illegible] per cent. These figures point to a yield of about [illegible] bushels. The yield in 1875 was estimated at 200,000,000 bushels. The falling off in the Pacific states is nearly all charged to Oregon, as California is credited and properly so with a full average yield. The report if based upon the yield per acre in this state is perhaps nearly correct, but it is deemed by good judges here that the surplus will be quite as great as in 1875, there having been a much larger acreage planted.

Domestic Produce

In wheat the feeling is somewhat firmer but transactions are not free, many holders being indisposed to sell at present rates. Exporters however, are holding considerable lots and will be able to get their vessels off in good time. Flour is in fair supply, and the demand both for the local trade and shipping quite active. Oats are coming forward in quantities sufficient to supply home consumption but shipments are light. Provisions are in moderate supply and prices manifest a slight downward tendency. New bacon is in the market in considerable quantities but is all taken by a few houses. Dairy products have increased in supply but quotations are unchanged. Eggs are in good demand at 35c per dozen, while some have sold in jobbing lots at an advance. Ripe apples are abundant, and choice shipping qualities sell readily. Prices vary greatly as to quality. Potatoes are coming forward more freely and dealers pay 35@40c per bushel. Hides, wool and other products are unchanged.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax having been disabled no steamer will probably be dispatched from San Francisco for Portland this week.

The steamship Geo W Elder will sail for San Francisco at 6 A. M. to-morrow (Friday).

The bktn Tam O'Shanter is at the North Portland mills taking on a deck load of lumber.

The steamship Gussie Telfair from Sitka, arrived at Victoria last Sunday and is due here to-night.

The brig Seawaif, having discharged her cargo, will go to the Sound probably in ballast, to load lumber for Melbourne.

The Br ship Ellerbank having a partial cargo on board goes down the river this afternoon to finish.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO, Grant and Baker counties and are offered for sale in such sized tracts, not less than 160 acres, as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most reasonable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing or other preparation of the land for plowing is requisite. A growth of nutricious grass covers the uplands affording the best of pasturage while in the valleys and bottom lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the lands in various directions. The uplands or rolling lands can be put into crops with the most satisfactory return. Fruits, particularly peaches, plums, grapes, apples, pears and cherries as well as the smaller fruits, can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for traffic, the mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section and a prosperous population is already established, occupied in farming, stock growing, mining and various other pursuits.

Terms, $1 25 per acre and upwards, according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent on deferred payments.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed, at the desire and under the auspices of thirty one gentlemen citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland, to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an Institution where similar to those in California, the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory [to which the Bank's operations are limited] secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the Industries of the North Pacific coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities, their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value; hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two-fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory, but also

2d. The Bank's own $300,000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.

Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards.

Rates of interest on application.

Hours from 1 A M to 3 P M.

Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and By-laws for depositors may be seen at the Bank's office.
